Providing Quality Accounting, Tax and Business Planning Services

To meet your individual and business needs!

ENGAGEMENT LETTER

This firm appreciates the opportunity to prepare your individual income tax return for 2022 and your 2023 estimated taxes. This letter sets forth the services the firm provides as part of the tax preparation process, states potential conflicts of interest, and outlines your responsibilities as a client.

The return(s) will be prepared based on information and documentation you provide without independent verification by the firm. The firm will provide you with a tax organizer to assist you in gathering and organizing the required tax return data in order to keep the tax preparation fees to a minimum. You will make available information about all of your income and deductions so that substantially correct amounts of income and tax can be properly reported. It is your responsibility to maintain, in your records, the documentation necessary to support the data used in preparing your tax returns. This firm is not responsible for the disallowance of doubtful deductions or inadequately supported documentation, nor for resulting taxes, penalties and interest.

You are expected to promptly provide requested follow-up materials and any missing information. If the firm has not received all of your tax return information in early April, we may not be able to complete the return before the filing due date. If your returns are not filed by midnight of April 17, 2023, you may be subject to late filing and/or late payment penalties. The firm is responsible for preparing only the returns listed above. The preparation fee does not include responding to inquiries or examination by taxing authorities. However, the firm is available to represent you and the fees for such services are at the firm's standard rates and would be covered under a separate engagement letter.

It is understood that anything you tell the firm during the interview for the preparation of your tax return is confidential, but not protected from the IRS or state tax authority. In addition, the firm cannot disregard the implications of any information you provide in the process of preparing your return. Any of the work papers used to prepare your returns, as well as the communications between you and this firm can be summoned by the IRS in a legal action against you. If this is of concern to you, you should discuss this with legal counsel prior to engaging the firm for the preparation of your returns.

This firm will use its best judgment to resolve questions in your favor where a tax law is unclear, if there is a reasonable justification for doing so. Whenever we are aware that a possibly applicable tax law is unclear or that there are conflicting interpretations of the law by authorities (e.g., tax agencies and courts), we will explain the possible positions that may be taken on your return. We will follow whatever position you request, so long as it is consistent with the codes and regulations and interpretations that have been promulgated. If the IRS or a state tax agency should later contest the position taken, there may be an assessment of additional tax plus interest and penalties. We assume no liability for any such additional penalties or assessments. If your marital status on 12/31/21 was married, you have a choice of filing a joint or separate tax return for 2022; if there are dependents, and you don't file a joint return, one of you may qualify for Head of Household, while the other must file as Married Filing Separately. ⁽¹⁾

- o If you file joint returns, you are accepting joint and/or separate responsibility for any tax assessed on the returns. Be especially concerned if there is an unpaid liability on the final returns as submitted; you can be held separately liable for the full amount of the underpayment. If you have any questions about your potential liability, please ask.

- o If jointly filed returns (from any year) are later challenged by the IRS or state tax agency and any additional tax is assessed, each filer can be held liable for the full additional tax. If you are separated or contemplating divorce, you may wish to make sure any dissolution agreement reflects that any additional tax for the 2020 year will be paid by the individual who generated the additional income. However, this will not prevent the IRS or state agency, if applicable, from assessing the tax or attempting to collect it from both parties.
- o If joint returns are prepared for you that are later challenged by the IRS or state tax agency, the firm will not be allowed to represent either of you separately, and will only be able to represent both of you if the representation can be provided objectively and with written consent from both of you.
- o If you are contemplating dissolution of marriage or were previously married to another client of this firm, you must understand that preparing the returns of both of you can involve inherent conflicts of interest for the person being asked to prepare the returns. Therefore, before the firm can prepare your return, you acknowledge that the firm cannot place information on your return in conflict with information used in preparing your spouse's or former spouse's return. Additionally, if the firm represents both parties, conversations or other communications by either party with the firm are not considered confidential and are available to the other party. In fact, the firm may be required to disclose any oral or written communications between the firm and one party to the other party.

Fees for services will be at the firm's standard rates plus out-of-pocket expenses. In some circumstances, a retainer may be required. Payment for service is due when rendered and, in some circumstances, interim billings may be submitted as work progresses and expenses are incurred.

You will be provided with copies of the completed returns. It will be your responsibility to review the documents carefully before signing and filing the returns or signing the authorization for the firm to electronically file the returns to verify that the information is correct and accurate.

(1) Treas. Dept. Circular 230 §10.29, Conflicting interests: A practitioner may not represent potential conflicting interests in his or her practice before the IRS unless the practitioner reasonably believes that the representation of any party before the Service will not be adversely affected; and all parties represented by the practitioner who have an interest in the matter before the Service expressly consent in writing to the representation after the practitioner has fully disclosed the potential conflict. Moreover, copies of the written consents must be retained by the practitioner for at least 36 months from the date of the conclusion of the representation of the affected clients, and the written consents must be provided to any officer or employee of the IRS on request. Finally, a practitioner may not represent a party in his or her practice before the IRS if the representation of the party may be materially limited by the practitioner's own interests, unless the practitioner reasonably believes the representation will not be adversely affected and the client consents after the practitioner has fully disclosed the potential conflict, including disclosure of the implications of the potential conflict and the risks involved.

PRIVACY POLICY

Confidentiality

You may have some concern about the confidentiality of the information you provide to this office. It is our policy to keep your personal and business matters confidential to the extent permitted by law.

Privacy Policies

The Federal Trade Commission has issued regulations that require tax preparation firms to provide an annual statement of firm privacy policies.

This Firm's Policy

All information you provide to this firm is handled with the utmost confidentiality. Your personal information will only be shared with members of our firm who need to know this information in order to complete the work you have hired our firm to do. Other than the IRS permitted disclosure to a tax return processor for the purpose of preparing and e-filing your tax return, this firm will not disclose your personal information to anyone outside our firm without your express written permission to do so, or unless the firm is legally required or permitted to do so. For example, if a mortgage lender contacts this office for a copy of your return or information about it, you will be required to provide written consent to disclose your tax return information prior to this firm responding to that request.

Client Privileged Communications

You should also be aware that anything you tell this firm during the interview for the preparation of your tax return is confidential, but not protected from the IRS. Privileged communications (those that are protected from IRS authority to compel the firm's testimony) are limited to non-criminal tax advice on matters before the IRS or non-criminal tax proceedings in federal courts. Although this firm considers any information you provide us as confidential, return preparation engagements are not covered by advisor-client privilege.

If you feel the nature of any subject matter to be discussed requires protected communications, please raise that issue so that we can discuss your possible need to consult with an attorney for legal advice.

Referrals are Welcome

Referrals are the cornerstone of any service business. This firm, like other professional service firms, relies on satisfied clients as the primary source of new business. Your referrals are both welcome and most sincerely appreciated! Since your referrals are generally individuals you are well acquainted with, you can be assured that your personal, financial and tax data will not be shared with them.

An Expression of Confidence

When you refer clients here, you are expressing your faith and confidence in the services this office has and will continue to provide to you. You may have business associates who need professional tax assistance or family and friends who struggle to do their own taxes every year. No matter whom you refer, be assured that their individual tax needs will be looked after in the same professional manner yours have been. Thank you for allowing this firm to be of service.

DEPENDENT DUE DILIGENCE

Your child must pass all of the following tests to be your qualifying child for EITC:

Relationship

- Your son, daughter, adopted child, stepchild, foster child or a descendent of any of them such as your grandchild
- Brother, sister, half-brother, half-sister, step brother, step sister or a descendant of any of them such as a niece or nephew

Age

- At the end of the filing year, your child was younger than you (or your spouse if you file a joint return) and younger than 19
- At the end of the filing year, your child was younger than you (or your spouse if you file a joint return) younger than 24 and a full-time student
- At the end of the filing year, your child was any age and permanently and totally disabled

Residency

- Child must live with you (or your spouse if you file a joint return) in the United States for more than half of the year

Joint Return

- The child cannot file a joint return for the tax year unless the child and the child's spouse did not have a separate filing requirement and filed the joint return only to claim a refund.

By listing the dependents below, you agree that you have the legal right to claim each dependent according to the IRS:

Dependent	Relationship to Tax Client	# of Month in the Same Household

By signing this form, I acknowledge that all information regarding any dependents that allows me to qualify for the EITC credit is true and correct to the best of my knowledge. I understand that this information is being provided to the IRS and State Revenue. I have been advised by my tax preparer that any false and misleading information that I provide for income tax filing purposes is against the law and are subject to penalties.

Tax Client's Signature: _____ Date: _____

Spouse's Signature: _____ Date: _____

Please Note: Only one person can claim the same child. If a child qualifies for more than one person and one of the persons is a parent or parents, the non-parent can claim the child only if their AGI is higher than the parent(s). If the child qualifies another relative and the parent AGI rules do not apply, the taxpayers choose. If more than one person claims the same child, IRS applies the tiebreaker rules.

ALTERNATE ELIGIBILITY RECORD (Due Diligence)

In accordance with Internal Revenue Service (IRS) Bulletin 97-65 and Internal Revenue Code (IRC), this form serves as Alternate Eligibility Checklist, and may be used IN LIEU of other forms of Due Diligence, including form 8867. Maintain this form with your client files.

HEAD OF HOUSEHOLD ELIGIBILITY

You may file Head of Household if you can answer YES to ALL the following questions. (See Publication 17, Chpt 2&3)

- Yes No You are unmarried, or are considered unmarried on the last day of the year.
- Yes No You paid more than half the cost of keeping up a home for the year.
- Yes No A qualifying person (definition below) lived with you in the home for more than half the year (except temporary absences, such as school), and you can claim an exemption for him/her except as noted under Category 3 below.

A qualifying person requirements are: (See Table 2-1, Publication 17)

1. A qualifying relative such as parent, grandparent, brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister, stepmother, stepfather, father-in-law, half-brother, half-sister, brother-in-law, sister-in-law, daughter-in-law, uncle, aunt, nephew, or niece who is related to you by blood and lived with you for the entire year.
2. Child, grandchild, stepchild, or adopted child.
3. Eligible foster child. (Note: For eligibility for dependent only a foster child is a child who is in your care, that you care for as your own child, and who lived with you the entire year. It does not matter how the child became a member of the household).

EARNED INCOME CREDIT (EIC) ELIGIBILITY

You may claim the EIC if you can answer YES to ALL 4 tests below. (See publication 17, Chapter 36)

1. Relationship Test

- Yes No Your child/ children is/are one of the following: a son, daughter, adopted child, stepchild, grandchild, or eligible foster child or is your brother, sister, stepbrother, stepsister (or the child or grandchild of your brother, sister, stepbrother, or stepsister), and you care for it/them as you would your own child.

2. Age Test

- Yes No Your child/children is/are under 19 years of age at the end of the year, or is under 24 years of age at the end of the year and is a full-time student, or was permanently and totally disabled at any time during the tax year, regardless of age.

3. Residency Test

- Yes No Your child/ children lived with you for more than half the year (or the whole year if an eligible foster child)
- Yes No Your home is in the United States

4. Qualifying Child of another Test

- Yes No If your child/ children is/are the qualifying child/ children of another individual, you are the only person claiming the credit for that/ those child/children during the tax year. (Note: If the answer is NO, refer to the tiebreaker rule. You may still be able to take the credit.

FOSTER CHILD ELIGIBILITY

The definition of a foster child has changed. For establishing eligibility for dependency, see above. For establishing eligibility for the Child Tax Credit and Earned Income Credit you must be able to answer YES to ALL the questions below.

- Yes No You cared for the child/ children as you would your own child.
- Yes No The child/ children lived with you for the entire year, except for temporary absences.
- Yes No The child/ children was/ were placed in your care by a State, one of its subdivision, or placement agency.

I attest and affirm that the information provided to complete this Eligibility Checklist is true and correct to the best of my knowledge. I understand the IRS may randomly question eligibility and that if my tax return is randomly selected for review, that my return, refund, direct deposit, or any combination thereof may be delayed or denied.
